TRANSLATOR'S INTRODUCTION

FOREWORD

CHAPTER 1: STATEMENT OF THE PROBLEM, AIM
AND PLAN OF STUDY

1. INTRODUCTION
  2. CLARIFICATION OF CONCEPTS
    - (a) Experience
    - (b) Lived-experience
    - (c) Life world
    - (d) Experiential world
  3. THE LIFE WORLD AND EXPERIENTIAL WORLD AS POINTS
OF DEPARTURE FOR EXPLORING THE CHILD
  4. LIVED-EXPERIENCE AS FUNDAMENTAL
ANTHROPOLOGICAL CATEGORY IN THE LIFE WORLD OF THE CHILD
    - (a) Lived-experience as anthropological category
    - (b) Lived-experience as becoming
    - (c) Anthropological categories of becoming in the experiential world of the child
      - (i) Bodiliness as center of lived-experience
      - (ii) Sensory lived-experience
      - (iii) Movement and lived-experience
      - (iv) Spatiality
    - (d) The experiential world of the child
      - (i) Phenomenological problematic
      - (ii) Psychological-pedagogical problematic
  5. THE AIM OF THE STUDY
  6. PROGRAM OF THE STUDY

CHAPTER 2: PSYCHOLOGICAL-PEDAGOGICAL
ASPECTS OF THE PHENOMENON OF LIVED-
EXPERIENCE

1. INTRODUCTORY COMMENTS

2. PATHIC/AFFECTIVE AND GNOSTIC/COGNITIVE MOMENTS IN THE EXPERIENTIAL WORLD OF THE CHILD

- (a) Description of pathic and gnostic
- (b) Pathic/affective and gnostic/cognitive lived-experience as a unity
  - (i) The emotionality of all cognitive activities
(gnostic/cognitive lived-experience)
  - (ii) The disclosive character of all
pathic/affective lived-experience

3. THE NATURE OF THE STREAM OF LIVED-EXPERIENCE

- (a) The streaming (continuous) character of lived-
experience
- (b) The integral character of lived-experience
- (c) The personal character of lived-experience
- (d) The knowing character of lived-experience
- (e) The selective character of lived-experience
- (f) The changing character of lived-experience

4. LIVED-EXPERIENCE AND LANGUAGE

5. THE FIELD OF LIVED-EXPERIENCE

6. MODALITIES OF LIVED-EXPERIENCE

- (a) Lived-experience as activity
- (b) Lived-experience as content
- (c) Lived-experience as state

7. NORMATIVE MOMENTS OF THE EXPERIENTIAL WORLD OF
THE CHILD

8. SYNTHESIS

CHAPTER 3: SOME PSYCHOLOGICAL-PEDAGOGICAL
CRITERIA FOR EVALUATING CHILDLIKE LIVED-
EXPERIENCE

1. INTRODUCTION

2. PSYCHOLOGICAL-PEDAGOGICAL CRITERIA FOR EVALUATING A CHILD'S LIVED-EXPERIENCES

- (a) Criteria for evaluating pathic (affective) lived-experiences
  - (i) Primary criterion: actualizing pathic
potentialities of lived-experiencing
  - (ii) Secondary criteria:
    - Loving care
    - Security

- Bodiliness
- Stable affective relationships
- (b) Criteria for evaluating gnostic (cognitive) lived-experiences
  - (i) Primary criterion: actualizing gnostic potentialities
  - (ii) Secondary criteria:
    - Habitual gnostic disposition on a childlike level
    - Initiating gnostic relationships
    - Exploration
    - Work disposition (attitude)
- (c) Criteria for evaluating normative lived-experiences
  - (i) Primary criterion: actualizing normative potentialities
  - (ii) Secondary criteria
    - Lived-experience of norms and values
    - Awakening conscience
    - Sense and meaning
    - Moral independence (responsibility and freedom)

CHAPTER 5: RETROSPECT AND PERSPECTIVE

1. RESULTS OF A PHENOMENOLOGICAL VIEW OF CHILDLIKE LIVED-EXPERIENCING

2. RESULTS OF A PHENOMENOLOGICAL VIEW OF THE EXAMPLES IN THE PRESENT STUDY

3. PERSPECTIVE

- (a) The phenomenon of childlike lived-experience as a task for psychological pedagogics
- (b) Childlike lived-experience as an educational task in the pedagogic situation
- (c) Re-lived-experiencing (corrective lived-experiencing) as a task for orthopedagogics and for orthopedagogy
- (d) Gnostic lived-experience as a task of didactic pedagogics and teaching
- (e) Gnostic re-lived-experiencing as a task of orthodidactics and ortho-teaching
