

CONTENTS

CHAPTER 1: SOCIOPEDAGOGICS AS A SCIENCE

- 1.1 Introduction
- 1.2 Historical-critical view of sociopedagogics
 - 1.2.1 Social and individualistic pedagogics
 - 1.2.2 Sociological pedagogics
 - 1.2.3 State pedagogics
 - 1.2.4 Sociopedagogics as an independent part-science of pedagogics
- 1.3 Etymological explication
- 1.4 The function of sociopedagogics
- 1.5 The structure of sociopedagogics
- 1.6 Sociopedagogical categories
 - 1.6.1 Educating in society
 - 1.6.2 Educating to society
 - 1.6.3 Educating as evolving interpersonal communication
 - 1.6.4 Interaction between educating and society
 - 1.6.5 Educating as social-societal orientation
 - 1.6.6 Educating as accompanying to identity acquisition
- 1.7 Interdisciplinary communication of sociopedagogics with contemporary sociology and social psychology
 - 1.7.1 Introduction
 - 1.7.2 Sociopedagogics
 - 1.7.3 Sociology
 - 1.7.4 Social psychology
 - 1.7.5 Significance of interdisciplinary communication with sociology
 - 1.7.6 Significance of interdisciplinary communication with social psychology
 - 1.7.7 Preconditions for interdisciplinary communication with sociology and social psychology

CHAPTER 2: THE FAMILY IN SOCIOPEDAGOGICAL PERSPECTIVE

- 2.1 The family as the center of educating and society
- 2.2 Family dynamics
- 2.3 Shifting functions of the family
- 2.4 Families types from a sociopedagogical perspective
- 2.5 The meaning of the family as an educative milieu
 - 2.5.1 The family milieu is life-space
 - 2.5.2 The family milieu is a response to experiences

- 2.5.3 The family milieu is a world of personally directed love
- 2.5.4 The family milieu is a social given
- 2.5.5 The family milieu is dynamic
- 2.5.6 The family milieu is enduring
- 2.6 The vulnerability of the contemporary family

CHAPTER 3: THE SCHOOL FROM A SOCIOPEDAGOGICAL PERSPECTIVE

- 3.1 Introduction
- 3.2 The socializing task of the school
 - 3.2.1 Culture and knowledge transfer
 - 3.2.2 Learning to work
 - 3.2.3 Learning to organize
 - 3.2.4 Learning to work and live together
 - 3.2.5 Learning to relax
 - 3.2.6 Learning to respect and live up to values
 - 3.2.7 Learning to compete
 - 3.2.8 Learning to associate with the opposite gender
 - 3.2.9 Learning to be prepared
 - 3.2.10 Learning “life”
- 3.3 The realization of educative communication in the classroom situation
 - 3.3.1 External factors
 - 3.3.2 Teacher factors
 - 3.3.3 Pupil factors
 - 3.3.4 Group dynamic factors
 - 3.3.5 Classroom discipline factors

CHAPTER 4: SOCIETY FROM A SOCIOPEDAGOGICAL PERSPECTIVE

- 4.1 Introduction
- 4.2 Structural characteristics of society
- 4.3 Dynamic characteristics of society
 - 4.3.1 Industrialization and urbanization
 - 4.3.2 Natural science and technological developments
 - 4.3.3 Economic development and prosperity
 - 4.3.4 Population explosion
 - 4.3.5 Contact inflation
 - 4.3.6 Massification
 - 4.3.7 Alienation and loneliness
 - 4.3.8 Inadequate socialization
 - 4.3.9 Manipulation of consciousness
 - 4.3.10 Mass-communication
 - 4.3.11 Social lability

- 4.3.12 Norm crisis
- 4.3.13 Differences in developmental tempo between educator and educand
- 4.3.14 Neuroticizing
- 4.3.15 Polyvalent pluralism
- 4.3.16 Planning, organization, and specialization
- 4.3.17 Elimination of primary groups by large and complex organizations
- 4.3.18 Fast change, unpredictability, and future shock
- 4.4 Synthesis

CHAPTER 5: THE ETIOLOGY OF SOCIOPEDAGOGICAL PROBLEM AREAS

- 5.1 Introduction
- 5.2 Educatively impeding factors
 - 5.2.1 Educative errors as leading to sociopedagogical problem areas
 - 5.2.1.1 Neglecting
 - 5.2.1.2 Spoiling
 - 5.2.1.3 Hardening (Making callous)
 - 5.2.1.4 Over protecting
 - 5.2.1.5 Being too strict
 - 5.2.1.6 Inconsistency
 - 5.2.1.7 Too much correcting
 - 5.2.1.8 "Neuroticizing"
 - 5.2.2 Disturbed relationships as leading to sociopedagogical problem areas
 - 5.2.2.1 Relationship of affective neglect
 - 5.2.2.2 Relationship of rejection
 - 5.2.2.3 Excessive emotional relationship between parent and child
 - 5.2.2.4 Ambivalent emotional relationship between parent and child (e.g., love-hate)
 - 5.2.2.5 Sibling rivalry
 - 5.2.2.6 Disharmonious marital relationship
 - 5.2.3 Particular family situations as leading to sociopedagogical problem areas
 - 5.2.3.1 Incompleteness of family
 - 5.2.3.2 Working mothers
 - 5.2.3.3 Child's position in the family (e.g., birth order)
- 5.3 Synthesis

CHAPTER 6: PROBLEMS OF CONTEMPORARY YOUTH

- 6.1 Introduction
- 6.2 The struggle for self-affirmation
- 6.3 What youth are seeking
 - 6.3.1 Search for sense
 - 6.3.2 Search for intimacy
 - 6.3.3 Search for identity
 - 6.3.4 Search for broadening awareness
 - 6.3.5 Search for change
 - 6.3.6 Search for an élan
 - 6.3.7 Search for authentic religious experiences
- 6.4 Pop music
- 6.5 Mass trends
- 6.6 Youth as position of transition
- 6.7 The structure of the youth phase
- 6.8 Generation gap
- 6.9 Youth and subculture
- 6.10 Youth alienation
- 6.11 The ideological attack on the spirit of Western youth
- 6.12 Sexuality
- 6.13 Early entry into adulthood
- 6.14 Synthesis

CHAPTER 7: THE DRUG PROBLEM IN SOCIOPEDAGOGICAL PERSPECTIVE

- 7.1 Introduction
- 7.2 Definition of concepts in connection with the drug problem
- 7.3 The sociopedagogical meaning of drug abuse
- 7.4 Classification, elaboration, and dangers of abuse
- 7.5 Sociopedagogical bases for drug abuse
- 7.6 The inadequate realization of sociopedagogical essences as leading to drug abuse
- 7.7 Preventing and combating drug abuse
- 7.8 A contribution to "drug language"

CHAPTER 8: THE PROBLEM OF LEAVING SCHOOL TOO EARLY (DROPPING OUT OF SCHOOL)

- 8.1 Introduction
- 8.2 Definition of dropping out of school [too early]
- 8.3 The origins of leaving school too early
 - 8.3.1 Personal factors
 - 8.3.2 Family factors
 - 8.3.3 School factors

- 8.3.4 Societal factors
- 8.4 The situation of the potential school dropout
 - 8.4.1 Characteristics of school dropouts
 - 8.4.2 Family situation
 - 8.4.3 School situation
- 8.5 Eliminating the problem of leaving school too early
 - 8.5.1 Identifying the potential school dropout
 - 8.5.2 Pedotherapy
 - 8.5.3 Parental guidance
 - 8.5.4 Orthodidactic assistance
 - 8.5.5 Coordinating orthopedagogue, parents, and school

CHAPTER 9: THE PROBLEMATIC OF THE ENVIRONMENTALLY IMPEDED CHILD

- 9.1 Introduction
- 9.2 Impeding milieus
- 9.3 The neighborhood as an impeding milieu
- 9.4 The family as an impeding milieu
- 9.5 Forms of neglect in a milieu-impeding situation
 - 9.5.1 Material neglect
 - 9.5.2 Social neglect
 - 9.5.3 Affective neglect
 - 9.5.4 Language neglect
 - 9.5.5 (Socio)pedagogic neglect
 - 9.5.6 Cultural-pedagogical neglect
- 9.6 A milieu-impeded child in the school situation
- 9.7 Helping a milieu-impeded child

CHAPTER 10: THE PROBLEM OF JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

- 10.1 Introduction
- 10.2 The sociopedagogical significance of juvenile delinquency
- 10.3 Categories of juvenile delinquency
- 10.4 The origins of juvenile delinquency
- 10.5 The psychopathologized child and juvenile delinquency
- 10.6 Motives for juvenile delinquency
- 10.7 Youth misconduct
- 10.8 Forms of juvenile delinquency
- 10.9 Providing help to juvenile delinquents